

The Demons

The demons of yesterday
Are awake
Again
Because you're not here

I wander in the dark
In ruins
Fearful
Because you're not here

So I remember
How it was the cold
How it was before
We crashed on that shore

Our ship was wrecked
Our friends all lost
Two souls only
They lit a fire

So bright
So high
Like the flames
Sparkled from your eyes

And the demons
They ran away
Scared and hateful
Of our love

You let me in
Host my soul
Lights surround
Alone no more

But the black ones
They will come back
Vengeful
Torches in their hands

We will stand firm
Feet on the ground
Loveful
And defeat each sin

Because the flames in your eyes
Are alive
Glorious
And give us eternity